

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF USE—IFRS TAXONOMY MATERIALS

The Foundation's objective is to develop, in the public interest, a single set of high quality, understandable, enforceable and globally accepted financial reporting standards based upon clearly articulated principles. As part of that aim the Foundation wishes to encourage and facilitate the adoption of IFRS Standards by jurisdictions and to provide users of the IFRS Standards and IFRS Taxonomy ("Users", 'IFRS Standards', "IFRS Taxonomy" respectively) with the rights they require to use the IFRS Standards and/or the IFRS Taxonomy as part of their day to day activities whilst protecting their integrity and reputation. You, therefore, agree to the following Terms of Use as a condition of using the Taxonomy whether electronically or in printed form.

In accordance with these Terms of Use You may use materials which comprise the IFRS Taxonomy and/or the software associated with the IFRS Taxonomy ("Materials").

All other parts of our website are governed by website terms & conditions ("Website Terms")

Definitions:

Addition(s): a change, addition, or deletion made without any direct edit of any files forming part of the Materials. This may be via the addition of references, overriding files (or other Format appropriate mechanisms) to the Materials.

Amendments: a change, addition or deletion made by directly editing (rather than overriding or referencing) any of the files forming part of the Materials.

Commercial Use: any use of the Materials for the purpose of generating monetary or other commercial benefit, including but not limited to sale, distribution, licensing, reproduction, advertising, marketing, promotion, or incorporation into products or services intended for profit.

Extension Taxonomies: a taxonomy acting as an Addition to the IFRS Taxonomy. This taxonomy does not make Amendments to the IFRS Taxonomy but may include additional taxonomy items and customizations of the taxonomy relationships.

Filing System Owner: the individual, company or organisation including regulators responsible for the running and/or development of an electronic filing or other electronic data receiving system

Format: XBRL or any other reasonable format.

Materials: IFRS Taxonomy materials including all files and their content, modules, versions and translations thereof and all updates thereto in any Format.

Namespace: a namespace provides a way to identify taxonomy items as part of a named group. In order to identify items as part of that group they may have a prefix. In the IFRS Taxonomy the namespace prefix identifies the IFRS Foundation as the standard setter source for an element and also specifies whether the element is from the IFRS Standards or from IFRS for SME's. The namespace prefix is the first part of a taxonomy element name before the ':' character.

Professional Use: use of the Materials in Your or the User's professional capacity in connection with the business of providing accounting services for the purpose of application of Materials for preparation of financial statements and/or financial statement analysis to clients or to the business in which You or the User is engaged as an accountant, but excluding Commercial Use.
